

What Can I Do With a Degree in ATHLETIC TRAINING

Athletic Training is the profession concerned with the prevention, recognition, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries associated with sports participation. It also encompasses the organization and administration of athletic training programs, as well as educating and counseling athletes. Athletic trainers work closely with physicians and other allied health care professionals on a daily basis. The American Medical Association recognizes the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) certified athletic trainer as an allied health care professional.
